

TRINITY NEWS

Before the industrial revolution, life was simpler, easier to see what was happening and what was needed. The basic needs of family, community, shelter, food and spirituality. What ever your views, the world has grown from a village family to a global family. But shaking the basic same human needs may prove to be an illusion. Imagine life without the work of seafarers, and the sacrifice of their families? Today is an opportunity to give thanks for those who spend much of their life at sea. And speak with people first hand as we gain an appreciation of seafarers and their families and how we can actively provide support.

Love and prayers
Fr. Peter
