

TRINITY NEWS

J planted corn seeds when we arrived at the Rectory; they grew quickly into fine looking plants, and cobs formed. When I peeled back the husks expecting to see the fruits of my labour, it was like opening a present only to find an empty box! Inside were only a few token yellow corn cobs. Jesus tells about the parable of the sower with focus on the soil. It needs to be rich and cultivated, to allow growth for the long hall of life with its seasons of good and bad days and nights.

The soil of a healthy faith community will promote growth and staying power. But how do we do this? How do we cultivate the life giving soil of God. For example for the recently confirmed young people, so they continue to grow how God intended, and not finish up like my corn cobs.

I have used up my typing space, but the questions remain. I would like to hear your thoughts.

Love and Prayers
Fr. Peter

The Pastoral Care Group and I are keen to have the Parish List up to date. This List is only for Pastoral Care and communication within the life of the Church of the Holy Trinity. Today we will spend just a few minutes to fill out the cards before the final Hymn, for those who agree to, please could you update your details (even if you believe we have them correct). A bowl will be at the church door to place them in. This will help us with the care of the church family. We will have further opportunities for those who may not be attending today.

With thanks,
Fr Peter
