

TRINITY NEWS

Can you own the sun and moon? Can you tell the ocean tide to not rise? The disciples of Jesus began to think they could. It seemed they thought their closeness to Jesus gave them ownership to the Son of God. Jesus needed to remind them that God was for all, and the 'outsider' they saw casting out demons in the name of Jesus was included in God's kingdom as much as they were. I like this account from Mark. It comes with a reminder that just when I might think that I have figured out what it means to be a Christian, Christ has a way of shattering that thought into a new and more inclusive way of thinking.
